MRS. D. WILLIAMS DIED ON WEDNESDAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

On Wednesday last, after a long and painful illness, Elizabeth, beloved wife of Mr. D. Williams, who lives just south of town. The deceased lady was in her 73rd year, and cancer was the cause of death.

Mrs. Williams, who was born in Maidenhead, Berks, England, was married in South Wales in 1892, and came with her husband to Canada in 1902, settling first in Edmonton where they lived for four years before coming to Wainwright. Arriving here in 1906, Mrs. Williams soon endeavored herself to all with whom she came in contact and proved herself a true helpmate to her husband on the farm which he has conducted ever since, sharing the trials of the settlers which were many in those early days.

About two years ago she was stricken with cancer, from which complaint she suffered continuously since, and for the past nine months she has been bedridden with the disease, passing away as stated above.

The funeral service, which was conducted by Rev. A. Love at St. Thomas church, on Saturday, saw a crowded congregation of sympathisers and friends to pay their last respects, and a large crowd also gathered at Wainwright cemetery where interment took place, the arrangements being in the hands of McLeod and Son.

Among the many beautiful floral tokens of esteem and respect were those from Mr. and Mrs. J. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Baynton, Mr. and Mrs. P. Wiley, Mr. and Mrs. D. McDougal, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ebbert, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. and Misses Linnet, "The Neighbors," "Women's Institute," and others.

CARD OF THANKS

"The relatives of the late Mrs. Williams wish to express their deep thanks for the many tokens of sympathy and floral tributes, and for the kind words ministered to her comfort during her long illness."

Dr. J. W. Gregory Repudiates He Criticized Oil Here

Edmonton oil men are showing keen interest in the statement recently made by Dr. J. W. Gregory, geologist of the University of Glasgow, in which he denies the widely circulated report that he had deprecated Alberta's chances for successful oil production. When this statement was first made, it was challenged by Dr. C. C. Coulter, now in Edmonton, and by other oil authorities in this province.

"I decline to express any opinion on the prospects of oil in Alberta, as I do not know the evidence obtained by recent borings," stated Dr. Gregory recently in a letter in Vancouver.

Dr. Coulter's letter protesting against the first reported statement by Dr. Gregory and requesting an explanation brought an expression of regret from the latter and the assertion that he had made no such comment regarding oil prospects in Alberta.

"My reference to Alberta was in reference to the oil boom at Calgary and I explained that I had not seen any oil men at Edmonton when passing through and I did not know what fresh evidence they had," Dr. Gregory wrote.

"In an interview regarding the Alberta tar sands, in answer to a question as to the difference between oil development in Alberta and the States south of it, I remarked that when oil prospecting at Calgary was active about ten years ago, some British geologists interested in oil geology concluded that southern Alberta was less favorably situated for oil development than Montana or Wyoming."

"That conclusion has been fully justified by the experience of the past ten years. I asked the interviewer not to mention that conclusion nor the explanation. I gave of the facts lest it might discourage further oil prospecting in Alberta. In the interview I declined to express any opinion on the future of the oil development in Alberta."

Messrs J. Velch and H. Driver, as manager and secretary, are now running a new threshing syndicate, known as the Mayfield Syndicate.

Aid For Rural School Board By Department

Edmonton School inspectors are now making a survey for the department of education in the district affected by a crop failure this year in order to ascertain what measure of assistance will be necessary to keep the schools in operation. Hon. Perrin Baker, the minister of education, says that the government's policy in this regard will be decided when the inspectors' reports have been made. It is practically certain that the government will have to do something in the way of making loans or grants to a considerable number of school districts that would not otherwise be able to operate on account of financial conditions, but just to what extent is not yet known. The southeastern part of the province is particularly affected this year, according to Mr. Baker, whereas the special grants last year were mostly in the north, where a great many school districts are too small and sparsely settled to pay the upkeep of their schools.

ACREAGE NOW BEING HARVESTED SHOWED LARGE INCREASE

Harvesting operations are about 75 per cent completed in the southern portions of Alberta, and threshing has commenced, but will not be general for a week. In the central and northern districts, where backward weather has delayed the ripening of the grain the cutting of wheat is from 35 to 40 per cent completed, with no threshing done. The weather in these districts during the past fortnight has been characterized by several warm sunny days which have ripened the wheat to the harvesting stage. The oat crop is still rather green, however, and its ripening has been further delayed by the rain and cool weather of the past few days. A very small percentage of the oat and barley crop is cut.

Total acreage in wheat in the province has been finally set at 6,033,491 acres as compared with 5,973,753 acres in 1923. The acreage in fall wheat is set at 37,122 as compared with 36,160 in 1923. The reason for the considerable reduction shown in the department believes that in past years too great a proportion of the wheat acreage has been estimated as in fall wheat. As a consequence the estimate is being corrected this year, the difference being included in the spring wheat acreage.

It is estimated that about 1 per cent of the total wheat acreage has suffered from drought to such an extent that the crop will either not be sown or a factor in the total yield of the province.

From reports received by the department from correspondents and from field men, it would appear that the average yield of wheat over the total area sown would not be more than 11 bushels to the acre, but owing to the very large area which will either not be harvested at all or will show a very light yield, it is difficult to make an accurate estimate of the average yield. The final estimate will not be made until the threshing operations have been about completed.

Where threshing has taken place the wheat, even though of light yield, has been found to be a good quality. In some districts there will be a rather heavy dockage for weeds.

The oat crop is making good growth but is very late in many districts, and the acreage cut for greenfeed will be large. The acreage in oats for grain is estimated at 2,309,542 as compared with 2,229,544 in 1923, and the area for greenfeed is estimated at 1,965,993 acres compared with 1,861,033 acres last year. No estimate of the average yields of oats or other grains is being made at present.

RUST RESISTANT WHEAT CLAIMED
WINNIPEG. — Rust resistant wheat is claimed by Samuel Lacombe, Birnie, Manitoba, to have been successfully grown on his farm during the past season. Not only do the samples produced appear to be rust-resistant, but give a higher yield than wheat hitherto grown in Manitoba, according to Mr. Lacombe.

Mr. Lacombe's wheat shows about 30 per cent higher yield than the Marthan five per cent rust, while Marquis strains sown on the same day were 100 per cent affected.

Maple Leaf Well Will Be Drilled In A Few Days

ENLARGEMENT WORK IS PROCEEDING IN YARDS

This week a gang of men are busy staking out the site in the C.N.R. yards at this point preparatory to the erection of a new big machine shop, blacksmith shop, etc. We understand that the new building will be about 90 feet by 50 feet, and will also include the latest thing in lavatory, bath and toilet accommodation. Two new boilers are to be installed within the new erection, and the fact that this enlargement is being made now seems to signify that the powers that be are cognizant of the fact that Wainwright is now bound to go ahead, and with their usual foresight they are getting prepared for whatever may turn up as a sequel to the opening of the new oil field.

MORE NATURAL GAS HIT BY IMPERIAL TO SUPPLY CALGARY

It will be a long time, before Calgary ever experiences a shortage of natural gas again, judging from the continually increasing supply available in various fields, the latest strike being an additional 1,500,000 cubic feet per day in the No. 4 well of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This new flow boosts the daily output capacity of the Black Diamond area in the Turner Valley field to approximately 10,000,000 cubic feet.

With the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat and Power Company making rapid progress in building the new main line to the Foremost field, where an already been developed, it is a certainty that the troubles of Calgary on the subject of a natural gas supply, at least so far as quantity is concerned, are now surely ended.

The Northwest Company, development branch of the Imperial Oil, Ltd., which is conducting the deep well test at the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Black Diamond, struck the additional flow of gas at a depth of between 3,495 and 3,510 feet. The flow is under control and drilling is still proceeding at this well, as the company is engaged in making the deep test to ascertain thoroughly the prospects for oil production in the area. On Wednesday morning Manager T. Draper, of the Northwest Company said the drillers at the No. 4 well were now down about 3,600 feet, and making steady progress. The hole is being cased following closely behind the drill.

Three other wells of the company at this location are producing gas which, after the gasoline is extracted, is fed through the compression plant and put into the main line forming part of Calgary's natural gas supply.

UNTOLD VALUES OF BUSINESS STIMULATED THROUGH WEMBLEY

LONDON. — "Canadian cheese has found a splendid market directly through the exhibition," one of the Canadian trade commissioners at Wembley announced Saturday.

"Eight thousand pounds of cheese per week is used in the grounds by the caterers and they have also introduced it is all their London cafes."

"A Canadian milk dealer has just sold his output for the next five years to a British firm, an output valued at $800,000. And fruit display has brought European orders for more than 1,000,000 boxes. A firm of showcase makers sent a small display more food the reason of being represented at the exhibition than anything else. European orders have come pouring in and the firm has decided to spend $100,000 on the opening of a permanent establishment in London."

"I can say that 60 per cent of the exhibitors here are delighted they came to Wembley, indirectly business amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars has been stimulated, and new channels of commerce have been opened."

B. P. LIKELY BRING IN NUMBER 4 THIS WEEK ALSO

We are informed that everything is going very nicely for the bringing in of the maple leaf No. 1 well either on Friday or Saturday this week, and according to Field Superintendent Fred Berestford, indications are such that the well is likely to be a big producer—possibly larger even than the Imperial No. 1 at Fabian.

The cement has set very satisfactorily, and the oil sand was encountered at a depth of 1775 feet, and which is even higher than the producing sand in the above mentioned well is some thirty-five feet in depth.

If it should happen that this new sand is not a productive as hoped for the drill will possibly be again put to work and sent to the lower levels of the producing sand as found at Fabian only three-quarters of a mile away.

The No. 2 derrick is now practically completed, this being only a very short distance north of the present well, and as soon as the machinery is released from the first well it will be erected at No. 2 and drilling commenced there for another hole.

In all there are to be some six wells drilled for this company, and Dave Credille, of the Edmonton Gas and Development Co., is to be on the job until they are completed.

TEST OF B. P. WELLS
WAS POSTPONED

The halting out of the No. 3 well of the British Petroleum, was commenced last Saturday in order to hold the official test on Monday last, but unfortunately this operation could not be completed in time for the demonstration. The water in the well seemed to have greater headway than the baler, and for this reason the test has been postponed until possibly the end of this week or the beginning of next.

At the No. 4 well the drill is removing the cementing-in, and this hole should be ready for test in a day or so. In all probability the No. 2 well, also, will be cleaned out and given a thorough test as to capacity this well having been in production since last fall and having since supplied a large quantity of natural gas for purposes of heat around the two sites of the plant.

It is expected that a further announcement as to the date of the testing demonstration will be made shortly.

AT THE OTHER WELLS

Work continues steadily on all the sites of the Wainwright Oil Producers' well near town and at the Western-Consolidated Co's project a few miles north. These are both standard rigs and are kept going evenly and steadily now that minor difficulties have been overcome.

NEW PRODUCER IN TABER FIELD

TABER.—Well No. 6 of the Shoshone Oil Company of Wallace Idaho came in last week and proves to be a good producer, for the first five hours after coming in the well produced 325 barrels of oil of a splendid quality. This is at the rate of about 1,500 barrels a day, the depth of the hole being 1,413 feet. This makes five producing wells in the field here, yielding 2,700 barrels per day. For the past 15 days the production has reached the value of $3,100.

B. P. DIRECTORS VISIT THE WELLS

Having travelled from the coast however, to witness the demonstration.

CROSSING THE BAR

ALBERT BEAUDREAU

There passed away on Sunday at the age of 39 years, Albert Beaudreau, Third avenue, an attack of typhoid fever, being the cause of the demise. The funeral was held Tuesday, the last rites being conducted by Rev. Father Lemaire and interment being in Wainwright Cemetery. The McLeod family handled the arrangements.

tion mentioned above which was postponed the B. P. directors held a meeting in the city on Monday and on Tuesday a party of round a dozen arrived in town on a visit of inspection. The party included the following directors: Dr. R. McKechnie, Dr. G. Sutherland and Messrs J. Ralston, L. Kohlman, T. Sugars, C. Maharg and A. Forman in addition to Messrs A. Butimer, W. Irwin, B. Hewitt D. Carmichael and Dr. R. Boucher.

These were met at the depot by Supt. Emmens and taken to both the well sites in autos, and were given similar and practical demonstration of the possibilities from the field. At No. 3, which is awaiting a set of fishing tools for lifting a liner, the gas pressure which was shown was such as to produce a truly deafening roar from the eight-inch casing head and it was explained that within a week the well would be producing although, of course the quantity can as yet only be conjectured.

The party was then taken over to No. 4 site where the crew are baling preparatory to bringing in, and were shown the No. 2 well demonstrating itself as a real oil and gas producer. These visitors are staying over for a couple of days and are exhibiting the greatest interest in all pertaining to oil production by the Brit. Pet. in the Wainwright field.

VISITORS TO THE WAINWRIGHT OIL FIELDS

During the past week there have been a large number of strangers in town, and without exception they have all made their way to an inspection of the oilfields of the district.

None of these have been very communicative as to their impressions or even as to their mission, but it can easily be surmised by their manner and actions that they are one and all here in the interests of men or corporations seeking leases or shares in the oil game.

In addition to these, Mr. T. Draper and Mr. Applegate, of the Imperial Oil Co., Mr. C. W. Dingman, inspector for the department of the interior, Ottawa, and Mr. S. E. Slipper, geologist and petroleum engineer of Calgary, have all been here during the week.

J. Hedlund dSr. Grade First Load Of Marquis No. 1

On Saturday last, what was probably the first wheat threshed in this district was brought in to the Security elevator at Heath, and it was found that it was a splendid sample of Marquis wheat grading No. 1. It weighed 64½ pounds to the bushel, and was grown some four miles north of Heath.

PREMIER MAY ANNOUNCE ADDITION TO BOARD GRAIN COMMISSIONER

OTTAWA.—Will a fourth member of the board of grain commissioners be appointed this fall especially for the purpose of looking after the interests of the western grain route? This is the problem that has been put up to the government, and action is expected in the near future. It is said in political circles that when Premier King goes west October he will probably make an announcement on that subject.

The policy as outlined here is that Alberta will be permitted to name a man for this position and he will be required to make his home and headquarters in Vancouver. It is conceded that such an appointee will have to come from some point in the west and be thoroughly imbued with the importance of the western grain route. The alternative of having one of the present members of the board transferred to Vancouver—it is conceded will not be satisfactory to the western provinces. It is accepted in the east generally that the western grain route is definitely in the field, not as an alternative route for moving grain to the world market but to be recognized next few years so far as the experts are concerned.

Local Rebekahs Give Well Attend Whist Drive and Dance

The opening whist drive and dance which was put on by the members of the local Rebekah lodge, in the C. N. R. club rooms on Wednesday last, saw almost a record attendance.

Play which occupied some 27 tables commenced at 8.30 and in addition a number of others came later. Ladies—Mrs P. Wiley, 1; Mrs C. Turner, 2; Mrs W. Milner, 3.

Gents—G. Hatfield, 1; H. Richardson, 2; R. Greer, 3. During the card playing the Stott orchestra, who contributed their services free of expense, rendered some splendid selections, these being all new items from the latest list of successes, and after the refreshments, this aggregation, consisting of Mrs R. Greer, and Messrs Stott, Ward and Messier, made the large gathering feel perfectly at home on the good floor of the club rooms. So well was their offering received that at a half hour it was decided that it would be a pity to spoil so good a time, so arrangements were made for a continuance for another couple of hours before the dancers were satisfied. The lodge will benefit to the extent of something over $50.00.

SPILLERS TAKE OVER BIG FIRM AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, B. C.—Acquisition by Spillers Overseas Industries, Limited, a controlling interest in the Vancouver Milling and grain company here was announced by J. E. Hall, general manager of the latter company, today, following a meeting of shareholders which accepted the term offered by Spillers to take over a majority interest in the long-established Vancouver firm.

Spillers thus adds a new link to its already large chain of holdings in western Canada.

The present Vancouver Milling and grain company is to be wound up and a new company of the same name will be incorporated with a capital of $1,500,000.

Must Grade Spuds to be Offered For Sale Now

Potato growers are reminded that commencing October 1st all potatoes offered for sale in Canada must be graded under one of the following grades: A, B, or C.

A tag must be attached to each sack of potatoes giving the grower's name and address and the grade of potatoes in the sack.

Potatoes must not be sold by the sack or measure, but must be sold by weight—by the pound, hundred or ton.

These requirements are necessary to comply with the "Root Vegetable Act," which becomes operative on October 1st.

Mr. E. Squires has now remodelled the small house he purchased from Mr. T. Schieck into a very neat, comfortable house.

PERFECT PARENTS NEED NOT READ THIS

Wit your children once more in school, all the way from primary to high-school grades, it is good time for you to think over the following suggestions:

Check yourself up with regard to what you are really doing—or going to do—to operate in your children's schooling.

Do you know what they are going to study this term?

Do you know their teachers other than by name, if that?

How many teachers have you encouraged to talk with you, in case they find your child difficult?

What are you doing to see that your boy or girl is not spending too much of out of school time seeking pleasure, and thus neglecting study?

If you find fault with the school methods, have you ever done to improve them? What are you going to do?

In short, as regards the education of your children, are you a faultfinder, a writer, or a co-operator?

ARRANGEMENT ARE COMPLETED FOR HANDLING GRAIN

REGINA. — "Arrangements for handling pool wheat have been completed with all the line elevator companies, but no agreement has yet been signed with the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company," said George W. Robertson, secretary of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, at the close of yesterday's session of the pool directors' meeting.

"A joint meeting of the board of directors of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company and the pool board will be held in the offices of the Co-operative Elevator Company, Wednesday when it is hoped an agreement will be reached."

"The directors ratified the agreement which was arrived at in Winnipeg last week between representatives of the Saskatchewan and Manitoba pools and a committee of the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association representing the line elevator companies," added Mr. Robertson.

"The initial payment to me made of the No. 1 northern at Fort William less freight rate and elevator charges is included in the agreement as an appendix giving the initial payments on the various grades."

"The agreement is operative for one year and is practically the same as that arrived at by the Alberta pool last fall, except that the service charge of one cent in the Alberta agreement with the line elevator companies is reduced to three-quarters of a cent in the Saskatchewan agreement."

The Saskatchewan wheat pool was officially declared in operation yesterday as required by the pool contract. Prior to this the pool contract signers were at liberty to market the wheat through the pool or not as they chose but from now on they are required under the terms of the contract to put all their wheat through the pool.

BAG LIMITS AND RESTRICTIONS ARE PROVIDED BY ACT

Next to the observation of the shooting season themselves, the most important factor for giving all hunters an equal chance to take game and for giving, all game a fair chance, is the observation of the bag limit and of certain simple shooting restrictions. Following the Migratory Bird Treaty such restrictions have been provided throughout Canada and the United States, and thus the hunters of both countries are given equal privileges while the game stock is conserved as well.

In Manitoba—Ducks 20 before October 1st, 40 after, and not more than 20 of all kinds in a season; Geese 10 Brant 15, Rails 25, Wilson Snipe 25.

In Saskatchewan—Ducks, Geese and Brant 30 of all kinds, in one day, not more than 200 of all kinds in a season, Rails 25, Black-bellied and Golden Plovers, Greater and Lesser Yellow-legs 15 of all kinds, Wilson snipe 25.

Alberta—Ducks 30 in one day and not more than 200 of all kinds in a season; Geese 15, Brant 15, Rails 25; Black-bellied and Golden Plover, Greater and Lesser Yellow-legs 15 of all kinds, Wilson snipe 25.

Shooting Restrictions

The use of automatic, swivel, or machine guns, or battery, or any gun larger than number 10 gauge is prohibited, and the use of any aeroplane power boat sail-boat or night light and shooting from any horse-drawn or motor vehicle is forbidden.

The shooting of migratory game birds earlier than one hour before sunrise or later than one hour after sunset is prohibited.

"That's what I said," responded the tailor, rubbing his hands, "but I am happy to tell you that I found the money to be entirely satisfactory."

"A man would be crazy to go to a place like that," said the guide, pointing to the insane asylum.

"Captain Blood"

BUCCANEER.

"CAPTAIN BLOOD, BUCCANEER," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

"My God. What an infamy!" she cried, when he had done.
"Oh, it's a sweet country England under King James. There's no need to commiserate me further. All things considered I prefer Barbados. Here at least one can believe in God."

"Is that so difficult elsewhere?" she asked him and she was very grave.
"Men make it so."

She moved on. Her negroes sprang up, and went trotting after her. It was a fair enough prospect, he rejected, but it was a prison, and in announcing that he preferred it to England, he had indulged that almost laudable form of boasting which lies in belittling our misadventures.

Of the forty-two who had been handed with him from the Jamaica

Merchant, Colonel Bishop had purchased no less than twenty-five. The remainder had gone to lesser planters

some of them to Speightstown, and others still further north. What may have been the lot of the latter he could not tell, but among Bishop's slaves

Peter Blood came and went freely and their lot he knew to be a brutal ing misery. If their labors lagged,

there were the whips of the overseer

"It's hoping I am ye're fit to meet your Maker."

and his men to quicken them. They went almost naked; they dwelt in squalor, and they were ill-nourished on salted meat and maize dumplings. To curb insubordination, one of them who had rebelled against Kent, the brutal overseer, was lashed to death by negroes under his comrades' eyes.

Occasionally Peter Blood saw Miss Bishop, and they seldom met but that she paused to hold him in conversation for some moments, evincing her interest in him.

Though the same blood ran in her veins as in those of Colonel Bishop yet hers was free of the vices that tainted her uncle's, for these vices were not natural to that blood; they were, in his case, acquired. Her father, Tom Bishop (that same Colonel Bishop's brother), had been a kindly, chivalrous gentle soul, who, broken heart wife, had abandoned the Old World and sought an antidote for his grief in the New. He had come out to the Antilles, bringing with him his little daughter, then five years of age, and planter. He had prospered from the first, as men sometimes will who care nothing for prosperity, prosper

"Your uncle, the colonel, is of a different opinion," said he when he had recovered. "He regards them as vermin to be left to languish and die of their festering wounds."

"Why do you tell me this?"

"To warn you that you may be incurring the colonel's displeasure if he had had his way, I should never have been allowed to dress their wounds."

"And you thought, of course, that I must be of my uncle's mind?"

"I'd not willingly be rude to a lady, even in my thoughts," said he. "But that you should bestow gifts on them, considering that if he paused, leaving the sentence unfinished. 'Ah, well; there it is,' he concluded."

"First you impute to me inhumanity and then cowardice, Faith! For a man who would not willingly be rude to a lady even in his thoughts, it's none so bad." Her boyish laugh trailed out but the note of it jarred his ears this time.

He saw her now, it seemed to him for the first and saw how she had misjudged her.

"How was I to guess that—that Colonel Bishop could have an angel for his niece?" said he recklessly for he was reckless, as men often are in sudden penitence.

"She wouldn't of course I shouldn't think you often guess aright."

Without another word or so much as another glance at Peter Blood, she swept out of the place.

Peter fetched a sigh.

Chapter VI

SYMPATHY

One day, towards the end of May there crawled into Carlisle Bay a wounded, battered English ship the Pride of Devon. She had been in action off Martinique with two Spanish treasure ships. One of the Spaniards had fled from the combat.

Steed, after the fashion of most colonial governors, gave the Pride of Devon shelter and every facility to careen and carry out repairs.

But, before it came to this, they fetched from her hold over a score of English seamen as battered and together with these, some half-dozen Spaniards in like case. These wounded men were conveyed to in this work, and partly because he spoke Castilian (and he spoke it as an darty because of his inferior condition as a slave, he was given They were shunned, however, by all those charitably disposed inhabiting the improvised hospital with gifts for the injured English seamen.

Rising suddenly from the re-dressing of a wound, a task which he had been absorbed for some moments, he saw, to his surprise, that one lady, detached from the general throng, was placing some plantains and a bundle of succulent sugar cane on the cloak that served one of his patients for a coverlet. Peter Blood stood and gazed a moment. The lady, turning now to confront him, her lips passing in a smile of recognition, was Arabella Bishop.

"The man's a Spaniard," said he in the tone of one who corrects a misapprehension. She frowned and stared at him a moment, with increasing haughtiness.

"So I perceive. But he's a human being none the less," said she.

"Your uncle, the colonel, is of a different opinion," said he when he had recovered. "He regards them as vermin to be left to languish and die of their festering wounds."

"Why do you tell me this?"

"And you thought, of course, that I must be of my uncle's mind?"

"I'd not willingly be rude to a lady, even in my thoughts," said he. "But that you should bestow gifts on them, considering that if he paused, leaving the sentence unfinished. 'Ah, well; there it is,' he concluded."

"First you impute to me inhumanity and then cowardice, Faith! For a man who would not willingly be rude to a lady even in his thoughts, it's none so bad." Her boyish laugh trailed out but the note of it jarred his ears this time.

He saw her now, it seemed to him for the first and saw how she had misjudged her.

"She wouldn't of course I shouldn't think you often guess aright."

Without another word or so much as another glance at Peter Blood, she swept out of the place.

Peter fetched a sigh.

CHAPTER VII

PIRATES

There was, too, a new hope. There were two doctors in Bridgewater, both freemen, and they were feeling the rivalry of this new rebel-convict slave, whose earnings for services went to Colonel Bishop. To rid themselves of his rivalry, they proposed to Peter Blood to finance his escape from the island. He enlisted his good friends, including Jeremy Pitt whose skillful seaman's knowledge must be needed to guide the sloop which they were to purchase. But the plan miscarried in that Kent the overseer, suspected Pitt, and Colonel Bishop ordered Pitt to the stocks, where he had him flogged soundly.

PHONES—Office 165; House 150 WAINWRIGHT

Even while Jeremy was being prepared for the lash, the colonel looked seaward and saw in the roads striding in for the shore before a gentle breeze that scarcely ruffled the surface a stately re-built frigate, flying the English ensign. So leisurely an advance argued a master indifferently acquainted with these waters. The colonel withdrew when his passion had been satisfied by Pitt's punishment, and there in the stocks Peter found him, and set about giving him succor as a doctor and as a friend. Pitt's pillory seemed to end all hope of escape as was now Peter's hope to save his friend from death. And while he stanchioned the flow of blood his thoughts grim and hopeless as they were interrupted. He felt the shadow of Colonel Bishop upon him.

"I think I know you, sir," she said.

"What the devil are you doing here very sir, Colonel Bishop jumped; his blood turned to face him and over that swarthy countenance (which indeed, by now was tanned to the golden brown of a half-caste Indian) mask descended.

"Doing" he said blandly. "Why, duties of my office."

"I said he was to have neither meat nor drink until I ordered it."

"Sure, now, I never heard ye."

For an instant the colonel was amazed at his impudence to speak thus.

"If you're alive when my blacks have done with you, perhaps you'll come to your senses."

He swung to his negroes to issue an order. But it was never issued. At that moment a terrific rolling thunder clap drowned his voice and shook the very air. Colonel Bishop jumped; his negroes jumped with him, and so did even the apparently imperturbable Mr. Blood. Then the four of them stared towards seaward.

As those men started from the eminence on which they stood, not yet understanding what had taken place they saw the British jack dip from the main truck and, to replace the flap of English and soared the gold and crimson banner of Castile.

"Pirates!" roared the colonel, and again "Pirates!"

CHAPTER VIII

SPANIARDS

The stately ship that had been allowed to sail so leisurely into Carlisle Bay under her false colours was a Spanish privateer, coming to pay off some of the heavy debt piled up by the predaceous Brethren of the Coast, and the recent defeat by the Pride of Devon of two treasure galleons bound for Cadiz. It happened that the galleon which escaped in a more or less crippled condition was commanded by Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdez, who was won brother to the Spanish Admiral Don Miguel de Espinosa, and who was also very hasty, proud, and hot-tempered gentleman.

He had succeeded so well in his intentions that he had aroused no suspicion until he saluted the fort at short range with a broadside of twenty guns. And now the gaping watchers in the stockade on the headland beheld the great ship creep forward under the rising cloud of smoke, her mainmast unfurled to increase her steering way, her arboard guns to bear upon the unready fort.

With the crashing roar of that second broadside, Colonel Bishop went off at the double despite his bulk and the heat, his negroes trotting after him.

And then into the stockade panting and sweating, came Kent followed by the best part of a score of plantation workers armed with muskets and hand-axes. By this time the rebel-convict were coming in, in two and three, having abandoned their work upon finding themselves unguarded and upon scenting the general dismay. Kent paused to fling an order to those slaves.

"To the woods!" he bade them. "Take to the woods, and lie close there until this is over, and we've put these Spanish swine."

The slaves would have obeyed him on the instant but Mr. Blood.

"What need for haste and in this heat?" quoth he. He was surprisingly cool, they thought. "Maybe there'll be no need to take the woods at all and, anyway, it will be time enough to do so when the Spaniards are masters of the town."

The landing was contested by the militia and by every islander capable of bearing arms with the fierce resolution of men who know that no quarter was to be expected in defeat. This Spanish commander knew his business. Having gained the advantage of a surprise blow, his guns turned now upon the open space behind the mole, where the incompetent Bishop had marshalled his men, tore the militia into bloody rags, and covered the landing parties which were making the shore in their own boats.

By sunset two hundred and fifty Spaniards were masters of Bridge-town, the islanders were disarmed, and at Government House, Governor Steed, supported by Colonel Bishop and some lesser officers, was being informed by Don Diego, of the sum that would be required in ransom for a hundred thousand pieces of eight and fifty head of cattle. Don Diego would forbear from reducing the place to ashes. And what time that suave and courtly commander was settling these details with the apologetic British Governor, the Spaniards were smashing and looting, feasting, drinking and ravaging after the hideous manner of their kind.

Mr. Blood, greatly daring, ventured down at dusk into the town. What he saw was fetching him in haste and white-faced out of that hell again when in a narrow street a girl hurtled into him, wild-eyed, her unbound hair streaming behind her as she ran. After her, laughing and cursing in a breath, came a heavy booted Spaniard. Almost he was upon her, when suddenly Mr. Blood got in his way. The doctor had taken a sword from a dead man's side himself little time before and armed himself with it against an emergency.

As the Spaniard checked in anger and surprise he caught in the dusk the livid gleam of that sword which Mr. Blood had quickly unsheathed.

"Ab, pero ingrat!" he shouted, and flung forward to his death.

"It's hoping I am ye're in a fit state to meet you Marked," said Mr. Blood and ran him through the body. He did the thing skillfully: with the combined skill of swordsmanship and surgeon. The man sank in a hideous heap without so much as a groan.

Mr. Blood swung to the girl who leaned panting and sobbing against a wall. He caught her by the wrist. They sped down an alley, and white faced, physically sick, Mr. Blood dragged her almost to a run up the hill towards Colonel Bishop's house. He knocked, but had to knock again and yet again before he was answered.

"Who is there?" The voice was Miss Bishop's a little tremulous, but unmistakably her own.

"It is I—Peter Blood," he gasped.

"What do you want?"

At the sound of her voice, the girl Mr. Blood had rescued peered up through the gloom.

"Arabella!" she called, "It is I Mary Trevel!"

VALUE OF

EDUCATION

Dean Holmes, of the Pennsylvania state college, after spending months gathering statistics and reducing them to orderly form, has discovered that money value of four years at college is $20,000, or a financial return of $5-000 for every year so spent. Dean Holmes' investigations reveal the fact which at first seems a little disconcerting to the advocates of university training, that the average earnings of a bachelor of arts amount to $1,187 a year, not quite .35 a week. But the situation brightens for the colleges when we learn that the average earnings of the non-college man are only $518—not $10 a week. The difference between these two sums is $669, and since the average man lives 30 years after leaving college his financial reward for four years of more or less arduous undergraduate toil is evidently something more than $20,000—
World's Work.

WORDS OF

ENCOURAGEMENT

How does it happen that words of encouragement are so seldom spoken and that so few people appreciate the value of their use in everyday life? Critics and knockers are always numerous, one meets them on every street corner. They are as plentiful as thorns on a rose bush, and as agreeable to come into contact with. To inflict wounds and bruises seems to be their favorite occupation. They always take a keen delight in pointing out typographical errors in the paper, and to call the attention of the audience to a false tone in the singing of the church choir or a grammatical error in the discourse of the pastor. The errorless columns of the paper, the sweet harmonious strains of the singing and the eloquent words of the speaker seem never to attract the attention of some people no merit a comment from them.Words of encouragement and praise
if spoken in sincerity and with wise discrimination are like jewels of infinity and with wise discrimination are like jewels of inestimable value.
An employer once praised one of his workmen for a piece of work well done. A friend of his who heard the remark said: "Be careful, how you hand out your praise, you are apt to make that fellow proud and insolent."
"No danger," replied the employer
"this is the surest way of getting the very best out of those who serve in a satisfactory manner."There is much sound wisdom in this reply. An ounce of encouragement will often bring better return than a pound of criticism. Many a boy who might have been a success in life had a word of praise and encouragement been spoken to him at an opportune time, has lost courage and grown careless in the performance of his tasks, for no other reason than that his best efforts were often criticised and his ambitions misconstrued.The fact is, we are prone to lavish too much praise upon people after they are dead, and too little while they are still living. Many kind words are often spoken of departed friends at their grave or chiseled on their tombstone, which had they been spoken while these friends were still living might have added much to their happiness and comfort.

TECHNICAL

EDUCATION

The work done at the Calgary Institute of Technology is supported in part by the provincial department of education and partly by the Dominion government. The vocational education work done by the federal government is in charge of the department of labor or under Hon. James Murdock. The aims of the department, as outlined in its eleventh pamphlet on "Vocational Education" are broad in conception and are founded upon a close examination of the social and industrial conditions prevailing in the different sectors of the Dominion. The vocational training needs of a province like Alberta, with agriculture and mining as its two principal industries, would differ from those of Ontario where manufacturing provides employment for so much larger a portion of the community. The curriculum must therefore, vary in different sections of the country, but it must always be based on the need of providing work which will ensure to the pupils an opportunity for continuous improvement and

Wainwright, Alberta, September 17th

1924.

THE PROPER TRAINING
OF THE YOUNG CHILDI have been asked to write an article on "Child Welfare" as I see it during my travels.Let me say that there is in most of the women's organizations a "Child Welfare Convention" who I presume has her co-workers. These ladies interest themselves in this work for their community which I shall go into detail explaining, as each organization would have its own method of procedure, of those I am not familiar, but I am going to alter the subject allotted to me somewhat. As a nurse, my attention is frequently drawn to those children who are not receiving the quota of care and training necessary for good health and longevity. There are hundreds of mothers who are doing the very best for their children but at the same time, through lack of knowledge and numerous other reasons, conditions exist that might be helped considerably by a few words of advice. May I here draw your attention to a few facts:—A FEW THINGS TO BE REMEMBERED1. That the child is being trained from the moment it is born.
please do not start on the road of irregularity, in this way you are laying up for yourself all sorts of trouble, and ruining your child's constitution and perhaps its health.2. Regularity is the secret of success in child raising as in all the sciences.
(a) Bath regularly night and morning.
(b) Feed regularly by the clock
as per doctor's instructions every 3 or 4 hours.
(c) Put to bed in a quiet cool room, window open, without the light, and close the door.
(d) After the child reaches the age of one year and on regularly is just as important then as during infancy. Try to picture that little child is being moulded in so far as habits, brain development, action, speech and character. The things you do enter his mind and form their little roads which actually mean habits.
Please do not spoil through carelessness, ignorance or over indulgence; this sacred gift which you have been given.3. That a baby cries when it has indigestion from over feeding or improper feeding. When pins are pricking it. When it requires attention. When it has perhaps been lying too long in one position, or insufficient feeding.
I have no sympathy with the mother who boastfully tells that "baby never goes to bed until 11 or 12 p.m." or the lady who comes into a home and says "She is all tired out, baby wakes up every morning at 3 o'clock and won't go to sleep till 6 o'clock."
There are times when a baby will wake during the night; perhaps he requires attention or a drink of water, but that is no reason for the fond parents turning on a strong light by his bed, talking to him and finally taking him into bed with them. It is done to night, tomorrow night the child tries it again and thus many well behaved babies are spoiled.Please remember that habit formation is the all important factor in the training of a child.

BULLETIN FROM PROVINCIAL GOVT.

Wealth in Wool Industry
It has been estimated that Southern Alberta's sheep and wool industry this year will bring shepherds and farmers of the south new wealth to the extent of $1,500,000.

Cattle Shipments in South
Annual movement of cattle from the south part of the province has begun, with the shipment of a railroad of 25 cars of beef cattle from the Ross Ranch to the Toronto market.

Roads Conference
Connection of Sunshine Trail Delegates from several points in Montana and from Lethbridge and Calgary this week, when a considerable number were present. This international highway now extends from Edmonton in the north to Butte, Montana in the south.

Motor Tourist Traffic
Remarkable increase in the motor tourist traffic to Alberta mountain resorts has been reported. The registration of cars entering the Rocky Mountain National Park is double that of the year previous. In the entire 1923 season 3100 passengers were registered at the camp grounds while up to the end of July this year a total of 7557 passengers had been registered. Rail tourist traffic into the province has also been very heavy to both Jasper and Banff Parks.

New Election Act
The new election act for Alberta passed at last session has been proclaimed, and the first election to be held under the new act will be that in the city of Edmonton to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Hon. J. R. Boyle who was elevated to the bench. The transiency vote ballot will be used.

Alberta Seed Grain Grows
To such an extent has the production of pure seed grain for commercial purposes in Alberta been stimulated by the success of the past two years by exhibitors at Chicago International and by the operation of the Alberta Government cleaning and marketing plant, that the plant expects to handle more than 75,000 bushels during the coming season. This will be made up of Marquis and Ruby Wheat and Banner and Victory Oats.

At a recent meeting of the executive of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association, a resolution was passed highly commending the operation of the plant by the field crops branch of the Department of Agriculture, and the low cost under which the plant had been operated. The total cost of handling the seed grain through last season was 18.70 cents a bushel which covers all charges including freight, wages, etc.

Co-operate to Fight Weeds
Never before in the history of all Western Canada have the residents of the rural districts combined to fight the weed menace as in the case in Alberta this year. Through the efforts of the Field Crops Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Edmonton, a strong organization has been built up through almost the entire province to combat the weeds. More than 130 rural municipal councils throughout the territory south from Edmonton to the U.S. border has appointed weed inspectors of their own, in cooperation with the department supervisors, such a measure of co-operation not previously having been experienced in the province. Intelligent interest is being taken by all concerned in the fight against the spread of weeds. Colored plates describing the most serious of the weeds have been distributed by the department to municipal councils, schools, etc., and the campaign is beginning to have results.

Increase in Butter Production
Nearly 25 per cent. increase is expected to be recorded this year in the production of Alberta creamery butter over the production of 1923. The production last season was 17,750,000 lbs. and this year should be approximately 22,000,000 lbs.
An increase of over 40 per cent. has

The same improvement is shown in the butter grading where the "firsts" have increased from 62.6 to 67.8 per cent. of the total amount graded, while the lower "second" grade has been reduced from 15.7 to 11.7 per cent.

Game Seasons

Pleased with Tar Sands
Alberta's tar sands near Wainwright have been attracting considerable attention from experts this season. The latest to visit the deposits was Roland T. Day, prominent mining engineer of New York City, who recently returned from the north expressing the confident opinion that there was no obstacle to the development of the bituminous sands on a large scale.

During the past week officials of this company met with prominent Lethbridge citizens and with Hon. V. W. The officials went fully into the possibilities of the proposition, and the question is only one of production of the beets, which the farmers of the irrigated sections seem ready to undertake. The sugar company officials will make a definite decision shortly. A considerable acreage has been prepared for sugar beets in the irrigated district surrounding Lethbridge.

The Wainwright Star

(Adapted From "The Yorkton Enterprise")

Every meeting, whether of the public, or of a society, club, or association, should be advertised in the local paper.

By advertising the meeting, those interested have an opportunity of knowing about the affair beforehand, and can plan accordingly. The chances of getting a good attendance at these functions are increased by newspaper advertising; because the paper carries the message to its readers, while other forms of advertising, such as posters, handbills, etc., require the reader to come to them, and they cost more.

Teas, Sales, Dances, Concerts, etc., can all be given publicity through the columns of the local paper. Implements, Feed, Seed Grain, Stock, Houses for sale or rent, all these can be advertised cheaply and effectively through "The Star". The advertisement will be read by everyone in a wide district, and the result from it will thereby be increased.

Advertising in the local news column is 10c per line per issue.

THE NEW WHEAT CROP

The significant news of the week with regard to the condition of the crops in the West as shown by the Financial Post is that there has been a steady improvement over the situation of the fortnight ago, and this, incidentally, since the preparation of the last crop report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Probably the best idea of what the harvest will be can be obtained from an analysis of the westward movement of railway rolling stock, the volume of bindertwine orders, the preliminary estimates of the number of harvesters required and such factors. At any rate, the usual migration of the harvesters to the fact that the harvest is a fortnight late.

In order to dispose of the wheat to better advantage, a central selling agency which will handle the wheat of the pooled interests of the three western provinces has just been incorporated under the name of the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers Ltd. This organization will look after the entire disposal of the grain to its members.

It is in the province of Alberta that the greatest improvement has taken place in the condition of the crop outlook during the past two weeks. Fine growing weather has been having a very favorable effect in sections where the grain had a good start, but was not ripening on account of cold and backward weather. This has changed the situation in some sections from a complete failure to a prospect of at least 10 or 12 bushels to the acre. With reasonably satisfactory weather for the next two weeks, it seems safe to expect a wheat yield in Alberta of something in the neighborhood of 75,000,000 bushels. This is approximately the same as the five year average, and considerably above the ten year average. However, some sections have suffered very severely, particularly in the south-east area near the Saskatchewan border and also in the central section.

In the province of Saskatchewan also the last two weeks have seen a very gratifying recovery. In the north central section, recent showers are a vast improvement is noted. The yield, however, will be much below the average. Farther south the outlook is better than in the north as far as the indicated yield is concerned. Rust is reported from several points however, and there has been some damage from blight. It is impossible as yet to ascertain the extent of the damage, but it is not thought to be serious. There has been considerable damage from hail, and the lateness of the season suggests the danger of rust. The last government estimate of the Saskatchewan yield is 147,273,000, but some improvement has taken place, at in Alberta since this estimate was made.

TWO IMPORTANT NEW

INVENTIONS FOR FARMERS

Patents on two inventions which promise to advance the agricultural industry in Alberta a long step forward, have recently been secured by the Alberta Department of Agriculture through the efforts of Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture.

One of these inventions, created by three farmers resident in the Sedgewick district, is a new ensilage sutter which is designed to eliminate much of the labor entailed in harvesting heavy ensilage crops. The invention is a machine drawn by three horses which not only cuts the crop but also cuts up the ensilage and dumps it into a wagon travelling alongside. Those who have handled heavy crops of sunflowers will realize what a boon such a machine would prove to be. Some time ago Mr. Hoadley took the invention up, and has had a machine manufactured for test purposes. He has also secured the patent rights on it for the three provinces. During the next few weeks tests of the machine are to be carried out at Lethbridge, High River, Strathmore, Olds, Lacombe and Edmonton. The machine is at present at the experimental farm at Lethbridge where it remains for some days then move to High River, and will be at Strathmore the week following. Farmers are urged to attend demonstration of the machine, if the department, if the demonstrations are satisfactory to the machine manufacturer and made obtainable to the farmers of the west at cost. It is believed that such a machine would be of an immense stimulus to the dairy industry, making it much

Famous Bugle Call Used To Interpret Spirit of the Day

New York City.—Psychologists who predicate human action from observation of humans at play, say that America is due for a long era of peace. They say this conclusion partly from a study of the songs and games which engross the energetic younger generation just now.

The new peace conference gains with its pawns all moving for harmony, which children have substituted for pick-ups, an interesting example. So a "Good Night," a waltz on the "Taps" theme of "Taps." This song sounds the peaceful end of the dance on most ball room floors.

about "three o'clock in the morning," these days.

Con Conrad, who wrote it, says he's finishing what George Cohan began when he built "Over There" on revellie.

"It's a sort of way of letting the public in on a grand celebration of the end of the war," Mr. Conrad explains. "Using 'Taps' to close the dance today seems to emphasize that it's really 'over, over there!'"

"I have just returned from two years in Europe where I tried several times to write the song, but the chaotic conditions got under my skin and I simply could not work on a relaxing peace ball tune. But here at home I could immediately sense that for us anyway, it really is 'over.'"
